Call for Abstract Proposals

49th Annual ADMSEP Meeting • San Diego, CA

June 22-24, 2023

"Shaping the Future Medical Professional: Preparing Students to Serve Our Diverse Communities"

The 2023 keynote speaker will be Donna Elliott, M.D., Chair of the Department of Medical Education and Vice Dean for Medical Education at Keck School of Medicine of University of Southern California (USC) in Los Angeles, CA

We invite you to submit abstract proposals on any topic relevant to medical student education in psychiatry.

The deadline for submission is Monday, October 31, 2022 at 11:59 PM EST.

We encourage submissions focusing on:

- Professional identity development
- Health Disparities, Cultural Competency, Diversity Equity & Inclusion
- Social Determinants of mental health
- Curriculum: active learning, redesign, assessment methods
- New and emerging topics in medical student education and technology
- Educational innovations

Abstract submissions will be accepted beginning Saturday, October 1, 2022.

To submit, follow this link: **ABSTRACT SUBMISSION PORTAL**

Specific guidelines for each type of submission can be found on the abstract submission portal and also on the page below. Please note that we must have all relevant application components by the deadline of October 31.

We look forward to reading your submissions and organizing an outstanding conference!

Submission Guidelines:

Only 3 presentations per presenter may be submitted (this does not include posters). There is a 5 co-author limit on all presentations. Please keep in mind, only people who are participating in the presentation should be included as a co-author.

The ADMSEP Annual Meeting Program Committee is accepting submissions for:

1. Plenary

1-hour session consisting of a group of three to four individual presentations that are thematically related. Each individual presentation is a 12-15 minute formal talk, given by 1 or 2 individuals. This session is offered to all meeting attendees. Several people can submit abstracts for a plenary session they believe would fit well together; alternatively, the program committee can group individual submission with similar and related topics.

2. Workshop

75-minute semi-structured learning session designed to facilitate interaction via active learning with a limited didactic element.

3. Discussion Group

75-minute session consisting of 3 or 4 interactive presentations along a similar theme, each 12-15 minutes, along with time for discussion. The program committee may combine several abstracts on a similar topic. Presenters may submit 1 presentation for such a combination, or may coordinate several submissions with other presenters.

4. Brief Oral Presentation: Educational Innovations

Adapted from the popular PechaKucha model, this is a 7-minute presentation, using 20 slides for 20 seconds each. This session is designed to provide participants with a lively presentation of innovative approaches to medical student education. Presenters would submit a proposal for a 7-minute presentation. The program committee will then combine several brief oral presentations in succession, followed by time for discussion.

5. Poster Session

Submissions can be on a wide range of topics from educational research to descriptions of innovative approaches to medical student education. This year, as in the past, poster awards will be given at the Annual Meeting banquet based on the final poster presentation by a panel of judges.

6. Media Session

This is an opportunity to showcase useful online resources for ADMSEP members.

We are excited to review the creative and innovative submissions from our ADMSEP colleagues! In November, each abstract will be carefully reviewed by 3-4 program committee members and rated on criteria including; the relevance of the topic on medical student education, the submission's content/rigor/evidence, and the proposed structure. A list of encouraged submissions can be found in our 2022-2023 Call for Abstracts announcement, but we also invite you to submit proposals on any topic relevant to medical student education in psychiatry. We encourage workshop submissions to provide a detailed plan that is practical, realistic and prioritizes interaction with participants. There is an example abstract available in CVENT that we highly advise you look at to get an idea of what a successful abstract looks like. In early December, each abstract is then presented to the program committee who will make decision on acceptance based on the relative quality of the abstract and in consideration of the entirety of the program. In some instances, the committee may suggest that a presentation format be changed (e.g. discussion group to a town hall, or brief oral to a poster). Authors will be notified of decisions in mid-December.

Some keys things to consider for your abstract:

- Provide clear rationale for your topic and its importance to ADMSEP members
- Be clear about any novelty or timeliness of
- Provide clear educational objectives for attendees
- Include a detailed plan for the timing of your submission
- For workshops make sure they are interactive with hands on activities
- Be thoughtful about the submission type
- Be practical and avoid pre-work or excessive use of technology
- Finally, be sure to proofread before submitting.

The abstract submission portal link is also found on the ADMSEP website. It will close at 11:59 PM EST on October 31, 2022.

We look forward to reading your proposals and developing an exciting and educational program for June!
